

FOR LAW FIRMS • FIRST ENGAGEMENT ONLY

Introductory Case Screening Package

Three cases, reviewed the way the other side will read them, before you invest in them.

Most attorneys find out what the medical records really show far too late, in deposition or after the experts weigh in. Lexcura Summit reviews the records upfront, using The Lexcura Clinical Intelligence Model™, so you can see a case's strengths and weak spots before you commit time and money to it.

$10,000, paid upfront

The package includes exactly:

- 3 Attorney Case Briefs, one for each case you choose
- Up to 500 pages of records per case
- Each brief delivered within 10 business days of complete records
- A 30-minute call per case to walk through the findings

Available once per firm. All three cases must be submitted within 90 days of payment. Pages beyond 500 per case are quoted and paid before work begins. After the package, Attorney Case Briefs are $4,500 each.

What each brief shows you

- Record integrity: whether the records are complete, consistent and timely, and where they're missing pieces.
- The timeline: what happened, when, and how fast the care team noticed and responded.
- Standard of care: where the care met the standard and where it may have fallen short.
- Causation and risks: how the clinical facts connect to the harm, and what the other side is likely to argue.

Who does the work

Briefs are prepared by Lexcura Summit's clinical review analysts, each licensed at RN level or above, and overseen by Michelle Carroll, Founder and Chief Clinical Strategist. Lexcura Summit provides medical-legal analysis, not legal advice or expert testimony.

Getting started

Email michelle@lexcurasummit.com with your questions. Once the package agreement is signed and paid, send the first case's records through our secure portal, and the 10-day clock starts when the records are complete.
